THE NEW OFFICERS.

Changs at the Courthouse and City Hall Today.

CLEAN SWEEP BY THE SHERIFF.

Only One of the Deputies Retained—Changes Made by the County Clerk and Auditor.

Today at 12 o'clock noon the county officers elected on November 4 last will enter upon the discharge of their duties, and the officials who were not reelected will step down and out. There will be six new officers. Five incumbents have been reelected. The thread in these last five offices will remain unbroken. In the others there will be some changes in the forces of deputies and clerks.

The new officers are Converse Howe, Sheriff; Ed Gibson, Sheriff; T. H. Ward, County Clerk; J. A. Kelly, Recorder; Edward Gray, Assessor, and James McLachlan, District Attorney. The incumbents who will continue are: A. B. Whitney, Tax Collector; H. F. St. Ford, Supervisor; W. W. Seagren, County Superintendent; Jabez Banbury, Treasurer and W. L. Welsh, County Clerk.

The only place in the Courthouse where a Democrat can find lodgment is in the office of the Sheriff. Mr. Gibson has fourteen places at his disposal, and the entire Democratic party of Los Angeles county to draw on to secure a force. This is a good reason, it seems as though he had plenty of good material to select from. The fact of the matter is that since the 5th day of November Mr. Gibson's life has not been a happy one. Applications for positions have rained in upon him as thick as drops fall in a February shower. His hair has become silvered as a result of the constant and unceasing buttonholing to which he has been subjected. But he has survived the terrible ordeal and last evening announced that he would appoint the following as his force:

Under sheriff, John P. Moran; bookkeeper, Frank Ellis; deputy sheriffs, R. M. Barham, W. H. Russell; court deputies, Charles Alexander, John H. Hart; constable, George K. Keay; C. P. McIntyre, H. C. McClure, Jaller, W. A. Paliotti; assistants, Frank Carpenter, A. C. Roquie; matron, Mrs. W. A. Paliotti.

All of the present force in the Sheriff's office is retired with the exception of H. C. Roquie, who is retained. Among many Democrats who will be waiting and quashing of teeth today, for of course every member of the party could not be remembered by Mr. Gibson, with a place in his office.

The force of deputies in the County Clerk's office will remain as left by the Board of Supervisors, but Mr. Ward states that he will be able to transact the business with the number of clerks allotted him. He announces the following as his force: Chief Deputy, F. B. Fauning; Register Clerk, D. S. Alexander; court clerks, J. M. Dunscomb, M. J. Ashmore, George W. M. Reed, W. H. Ward, C. G. Keay; C. P. McIntyre, H. C. McClure, Jaller, W. A. Paliotti; assistants, Frank Carpenter, A. C. Roquie; matron, Mrs. W. A. Paliotti.

The retiring deputies and clerks are: A. G. Mappa, W. L. Warren, N. S. Averill, W. D. Rogers, C. W. Lockhart, P. P. Livermore, E. Blethen, etc.

County Auditor Kelly announces that his force will be made up as follows: Chief Deputy, W. F. X. Parker; assistant, W. S. Marchant; index clerk, John H. Gish; comparators, Mrs. K. C. Garner, W. B. Eary; draftsmen, W. W. Mills; flour-walker, E. M. Shipman; chief clerk copying department, S. Whitaker.

The retiring deputies are: W. W. Myers, J. W. McKeever, Harry Farries.

Tax Collector Whiteley will materially reduce his force of deputies, now that a major portion of the tax have been collected. At present he has twenty-seven deputies, but will at once reduce his force to twelve, and do so effectually till the middle of March. George Vassos will be his chief clerk. The fifteen deputies have not yet been decided upon.

Assessor Gray will, so it is said, make D. E. Barclay his chief clerk. At present there are no deputies to retire. Later Mr. Gray has engaged the services of an army of deputies to take the assessment.

County Auditor Howe announces that N. S. Averill will be his chief clerk and N. B. Eddy clerk. The retiring deputies are Aaron Smith and E. G. Wood.

Treasurer Banbury will make no change, T. J. Remming remaining as his chief deputy. It is also understood that County Superintendent Seaman will not change his assistants.

Congressional and Surveyor Stanford have had an easy time of it, as they have no deputies to appoint.

E. Forrester and J. W. Cook will take their seats as members of the Board of Supervisors, according to E. B. Brown and W. T. Martin, both Democrats. This makes the Board of Supervisors solidly Republican.

District Attorney McLachlan has announced the appointment of the following deputies: Assistant District Attorney, C. C. McComas; for the Board of Supervisors, B. A. Marble; for the Justices courts, C. H. Phillips; and E. F. Ford, for the State of Waldo Y. F. The criminal work will be done by C. C. McComas and the District Attorney. The deputies who retire are Messrs. Diehl and Hardesty.

Constable Clements will have the constabulary work in Justice Austin's and Justice Goss' courts. His deputies will be as at present. Henry Johnson, Billy Tracy and Cass Cline.

Constable L. D. Rogers will have Justice Stanton's court to care for. His deputies will be Messrs. Meleite, Bonett and Cochran.

Justice L. Stanton announces the appointment of George C. Mathews as his chief clerk.

The legislative delegation from Los Angeles County departed for Sacramento Saturday evening. The delegation consists of Senator R. B. Carpenter and Assemblymen F. Marion, J. R. Mathews and A. Guy Smith.

AT THE CITY HALL.

At the City Hall there will be but comparatively few changes, as there have been only three changes in the elective offices—the City Engineer, Assessor and Superintendent of Streets; but one of whom is a Democrat, Mr. Dockweller the engineer.

In the case of the City Clerk, Robinson will continue in his present position.

City Clerk Teed will continue his office as at present constituted, with G. O. E. Selp as chief deputy, John Koster in charge of the licenses, Charles A. Luckenbach minute clerk, and Miss Neille Cheeseman stenographer.

Supt. of Schools, Hutchinson has appointed George Flint as chief deputy and Capt. Hutton as sewer inspector. The other appointments have not been announced.

City Engineer Dockweller has only definitely decided on one appointment, George Butler Griffin having been appointed clerk in place of George Lawrence.

The force in the City Attorney's office remains unchanged, as do also those in the offices of the Auditor and Tax Collector.

Assessor Hinton has named George R. Hull as his chief deputy, and others will be selected as they are required.

In the cases of the appointive offices, everything is in doubt, no changes, if any have been decided upon, have been made public.

The organization of the Council, it is said, has not yet been definitely decided upon. An attempt was made to hold a caucus Friday afternoon, but it did not materialize. Councilman Bonsai's friends think that he will be the next president.

It is hardly probable that any changes will be made in the various commissions for a week at least.

There is liable to be some trouble over the library directors. The board as at present constituted may attempt to retain their positions, and in this case, the courts will have to decide whether the recently-elected trustees can take the offices, or whether the incumbents are the legally-constituted board.

There is a great deal of uneasiness among the employés in the various departments, and this will continue until after the commissions are reorganized.

It Was Not Mr. Fox.

Brief mention was made in The Times yesterday about a disturbance in a house on Court street, just west of Belmont avenue, in which it was stated that a man named Fox had driven his wife out of the house and threatened the neighbors when they interfered to protect the woman. Last evening Joseph Fox called at The Times office to say that there was a mistake out which did him a great injustice. Mr. Fox said that he formerly lived at the place indicated, but some two weeks ago had sold the property to a man named Mass, and moved to No. 212 Court. His address where he has since resided. He knew nothing about the occurrence. Mr. Fox is a respectable man, who has lived in this city for the past eight years, and regrets that the mistake occurred, as persons who do not know him personally might think that he would be guilty of such practices. The information was furnished The Times by a responsible citizen who lives in the neighborhood, but who evidently did not know that the property had changed hands.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MEETING OF THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE YESTERDAY.

Letter from S. J. Mathes of "California on Wheels"—Rules for the Forthcoming Citrus Fair.

The Farmers' Alliance held their regular monthly meeting in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce Saturday, and during the day the permanent exhibit was visited by a large number of people, mostly Eastern tourists.

The following letter was received by Secretary Hanchette yesterday from S. J. Mathes, of "California on Wheels," under date of Oshkosh, Wis., December 23:

"Your last shipment to 'California on Wheels' reached us at Fond du Lac yesterday morning. Could the articles received have found tongue to express themselves I imagine there would have been a howl sent up against you. The article we would have been most interested in was your 'Citrus Fair' rules. We have been buying for some time past."

"The cause of this wide difference in estimates is due to the fact that in March last, when the trees were setting their fruit, but before the first frost, the market price of the first crop. Favorable weather later caused the trees to bloom a second time. This crop developed beyond all expectations. It did not mature at the usual time which led the growers to believe that the crop was very short.

"The crop from the first bloom matured and was harvested for the holiday trade. The supply being limited prices advanced to a point not reached in any previous season. In 1889 up to December 17, the shipments of oranges from Florida exceeded 1,100,000 boxes. At the same date this year only 920,000 boxes had been shipped, but the market price of the first crop was $1.50, and the price of the Florida crop will this year be brought into competition with the California crop, which competition you did not have last year, as by February 1st 90 per cent. of the Florida crop had been shipped.

"This year the market price of the crop will be paid at 50 per cent. of the crop will have been shipped."

"Florida growers are preparing later varieties of oranges, which are now coming into bearing, and which can be placed upon the market as late as April 15. The names of some of these varieties are the Jaffa, Majorica and Malta Oval.

"It will therefore be seen that this condition of affairs is bound to more or less affect the price of the California product and will have a tendency to reduce it.

"Florida oranges can be marketed in competition with California fruit, considering freight and everything, in all territory far west as the Mississouri River. They will take preference to the first of our crop because of the fact that they are sweet."

"Are the provisions of the McKinley Tariff Bill a protection to the grower, Mr. Moorehouse?"

"Yes, they are. Inasmuch as now the duty of 25 cents per box will be collected, I think he would change his mind very materially. Perhaps the results are not permanent, but the market price of the old law fruit out of condition ordered was exempt from duty. Vessels were unloaded and the boxes were piled up with the decayed fruit on the outside, sound fruit being concealed in the middle and passed as all decayed. In this way the market must be paid if there are only a dozen boxes of oranges in the box."

"Have you inspected the Southern California crop yet?"

"Yes, sir; I have made a thorough inspection of it in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties. I find that it will exceed the crop of last year at least 25 per cent. That year there will be 40,000 cars of 1,200 boxes each containing 200 carats of 750,000 boxes for last year.

"I find the quality of the fruit fair superior to last year, both in texture and brightness. The condition which exists, and which will make it difficult to market a portion of the crop, is the fact that the oranges are running in a great variety of sizes in small oranges. Regular sizes are 125 to 200 oranges per box inclusive. The seedlings will run largely from 250 to 300 to the box, which are very undesirable sizes, being too small for the first-class trade.

"With Navel oranges it is just the reverse.

"We cannot make bricks without straw, and they have furnished another. Now, here is an opportunity for our fathers to get even and hit their purses besides.

"Plant potatoes. There are hundreds of acres of land where they may be planted and marketed by the time they are ready to plant in this country. There is big money for the man who has early potatoes to sell. We are getting a good market country quite rapidly now, and expect to reach about February 1st. Will return via North-West Pacific through Dakota, Montana, Washington and Oregon.

"I spent several hours on Tuesday last with Mr. Truman in the Southern California exhibit, Chicago. I did not intend to go to the fair, but was induced to do so by my son, who is a boy of 16 years of age, and who has been showing more than I have ever done. There is a dearth of potatoes all over the country.

"The Western States were affected by the drought, and the eastern by the potato rot, until some are predicting that by April 1st potatoes will come in 3 cents per pound.

"Now, here is an opportunity for our fathers to get even and hit their purses besides.

IRELAND'S POOR.

A New Charity Fund Started for Their Benefit.

Balfour and the Viceroy Will Handle all Subscriptions.

Too-liberal Giving Declared to Have a Bad Effect.

Parnell Starts for Boulogne to Renew His Conference With the Party Leaders—For- eign Affairs.

By Telegraph to The Times.

DUBLIN, Jan. 4.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Earl of Cheltenham, Viceroy of Ireland, and Chief Secretary Balfour, sign a declaration which has been issued on the condition of the poor in the western part of Ireland. The declaration says:

Poverty is chronic in some districts, and will, if the people are not aided, reach a stage of acute distress during the winter and spring. There is neither resident parson nor schoolmaster, no middle-class person of any kind, no employer, nor are there charitable organizations to aid those who are unable to aid themselves. Out-door relief, excepting in cases of emergency, cannot legally be administered, except to persons holding over a quarter of an acre of land. Although none acquainted with the history of the Irish poor law would repeat the statement that other than public charity, its maintenance undeniably limits the capacity to deal with periods of exceptional distress.

The position thus created leaves a part of the social organism, sick at all times, stricken with a disease from which, without extraneous help, it had no power to rally. The question is, whether money ought to be given, but how it ought to be given, to what class and for what purposes. Charitable administration injures its recipients everywhere, but is especially injurious to those parts with which we are concerned. Elsewhere the injury may be confined to a class relatively small, but in the worst parts of the poorest districts the whole community may be affected. All are poor, all can plausibly appeal for aid, and help recklessly given in response may infect whole townships with the vices and weaknesses of professional mendicity. We have spoken of this matter to many priests and others acquainted with the condition of the people. They were of the opinion however, that they may have felt the sufferings of those among whom they lived, who did not admit that permanent ill effects followed from such a charitable expenditure within their experience?

Regarding appeals for help, it is needless to say that tales of distress need not be taken at their face value, because they are couched in strong language and seem to come from well-informed quarters. In regard to the failure of the potato crop, small occupiers in the West seem, at first sight, to all live much in the same way. They are lodged in small cabins cultivate the same kind of soil and clothed with the same kind of garments. It would be a mistake to suppose that in all cases the failure of the crop is the same, or that the same is the case, but such is not the case. In no district does the bulk of the community live wholly upon pot-tatoes. Every district has means of livelihood independent of the cultivation of the potato. The degree of the failure of the potato crop is, therefore, by itself a misleading index of the degree of distress existing among the people.

Other elements in the finding of the position of the people are the amount of their savings and their debt and credit with local tradesmen. Furthermore, in the organization of any plan of gratuitous assistance, caution is necessary in order that it shall not interfere with the system of waywardness and idleness. Funds available for us, however, are limited, and funds weekly are already distributed in the form of wages in the districts most in need. The conclusions we come to are that charitable aid ought to be confined first, to families which are in serious want and which have no other resource, second, to the payment of derive benefit from public relief works; second, to providing means in schools for the children attending them, and third, to supplying clothing for children unable to procure it elsewhere.

The declaration concludes:

To those who think that we, who can obtain the services of the poor law inspectors, school inspectors, revenue collectors, revenue auditors, and other tax collectors in the localities affected, and who are already officially responsible for relief, works for exceeding anything that charity is likely to effect; to those who think we are better equipped for carrying out this work than other persons not having these advantages, we offer our undertaking management of the available funds at our disposal for us. We believe that money so spent will be well spent. All assistance in the shape of food or clothing which reaches children and helpless persons will lighten or remove much immediate suffering, without exaggerating chronic evils requiring different and comprehensive treatment for a permanent cure.

Subscriptions to the charitable fund to be received by the Countess of Zetland, at the vice-regal lodge; by Miss Balfour at the Chief Secretary's lodge, or by the Viceroy or Balfour.

Jan. 4.—The honeymoon of Banker Dow's son and Millie Price, an actress, who were married here Friday night after an acquaintance of only two days, came near ending in a double murder tonight. Dow's father has refused to have anything to do with him or aid him financially, several creditors had the young man arrested Saturday on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, and the trial was set for Wednesday. Tonight the couple retired to their room in the hotel about 10 o'clock. Two hours later Mrs. Dow rushed out of the room, clad only in a night dress, just in time to escape being shot by her husband. Seeing that he had failed to hit her, he attempted to blow his brains out, but the bullet flew wide of its mark and he was overpowered before he could make a second attempt. The supposed trouble was over money matters.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

American Politics from the French Point of View.

PARIS, Jan. 4.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Leon Say, in an article in the Journal des Débats, severely criticizes the McKinley Tariff Bill and the American Farmers' Alliance. He declares that America, notwithstanding its immense wealth, cannot carry out its industrial, commercial or agricultural enterprises without European capital, and continues:

The fact of the situation is that they have destroyed the independence of their transport enterprises and by their even worse administration of finance. Unless a reaction occurs in public morals, American credit cannot recover from its abasement, and its agricultural, like its other industries, will remain a prey to successive convulsions for which transient remedies will be sought by the adoption of experiments certain to fail, and continually leading the country to a grave crisis.

It is astonishing that in a country of business men they have brought themselves to believe that there are no limits to money circulation. If America turns its mines over and raises paper currency in accordance with the theory of the Farmers' Alliance, no amendment will be possible with Europe on the monetary question. Europe would be foolish to transfer its capital to America in exchange for absolutely a useless mass of silver.

CRADLE SONGS OF ALL NATIONS.

How Emma Juch Wrote an Auto-graph—Death of Walter Leman
—Frederick Warde's New Play—Stage Notes.

The chief attraction for the current week is Gillette's farcical and well-known comedy, "The Private Secretary," which is to be given at the Grand Opera House tonight, and for the three nights following, by a company that is said to be fully competent to bring out all the decided humorous features of the piece. The company has been sent on a tour from New York for the purpose of giving the comedy with all the original dialogue, business and effects belonging to it. The manager has secured nearly all the members of the original cast that appeared during the 300-night run at the Madison Square Theater.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the forthcoming entertainment entitled "Cradle Songs of Many Nations," which is to be given at the Grand Opera House on the evening of the 13th inst., followed by a matinee on the next succeeding day. The participants are rehearsing faithfully and there will be a good deal of rivalry in getting up the different tableaux. Some of the best singers in town will take part, and also a number of ladies and gentlemen who have achieved distinction in amateur circles.

An entertainment of a similar kind was given here a few years ago and was very successful on account of the fidelity of the scenes represented and the quaint simplicity of the ballads that were sung. It is intended on this occasion to outdo all that has been done before, and as the proceeds are to be devoted to the benefit of the Free Kindergarten, there should be a large patronage extended to the affair.

If the Los Angeles public has not had almost a surfeit of grand opera it is not the fault of the companies that have lately left us. Their success has been remarkable in a financial way, and will go far to establish the name of our city for its liberal patronage of amusements.

At the last performance of the Emma Juch Company on Friday night when "Carmen" was given in honor of King Kalakaua, a wish was conveyed to the prima donna that she would bestow one of her new and fetching photograph, upon His Majesty, who had just presented her with a magnificent bouquet. An assortment of portraits in various costumes was hurriedly looked over, and Miss Juch was requested to select one for the purpose of presentation. This was done after some hesitation, and the decided rejection of the portrait of "Carmen," which reveals a little more of the lower extremities than is seen in the performance. "I don't like that one," said the vivacious lady, and she chose a picture of more spiritual type showing the head and bust only. Then the question came as to the proper inscription which was begun, "To His Majesty, Kalakaua." "Now, add, King of the Hawaiian Islands," said Manager Locke. "I can't spell all that," said the singer, glancing up in comic dispair; "and besides, the curtain is going up and I have to be on the stage. What shall I write? What is the proper thing to say to a King anyway?" This was addressed to the gentleman who acted as envoy on the occasion. "Suppose you simply add, 'From Emma Juch,'" and he, No sooner said than done, and the exchange of courtesies between the Queen of Song and the King of the Islands was soon completed.

Frederick Warde is making a highly-successful tour with Mrs. D. P. Bowlers as his leading lady, and a strong supporting company. His mighty receipts are stated to have averaged close upon $900. He has added to his usual repertory, "Henry the Eighth," "The Merchant of Venice" and "Taming of the Shrew."

Joseph Haworth has been engaged by H. S. Taylor for five years and is to star in "Hamlet," "Ophelia" and a new American play. Mr. Haworth is a capable and ambitious young actor, but he does not appear to be likely to fill the place that may soon be left vacant on the American stage by Edwin Booth's retirement.

The New York Dramatic Mirror says: "A new industry has sprung up in this city. Several writers, both men and women, are selling articles to syndicates and Sunday papers which purport to be the views of actors and actresses on various questions of public interest. The writers prepare the articles themselves, secure the consent of the actors and actresses to use their names (not a difficult task) and reap a liberal harvest from their sales."

The telegraph brought the news during the past week of the destruction by fire of the Fifth Avenue theater, New York, and heavy damage by the same cause to Hartmann's theater adjoining. The loss to Fanny Davenport and to Prof. Herriman in wardrobes and properties will be very heavy.

Henry Guy Carleton has written a play for Frederick Warde, which he will soon produce. It is called "The Lion's Mouth," the scene being laid at Venice in the sixteenth century and the story recalling one of the most picturesque periods of Mediaeval Italy. The play is partly written in blank verse and has been most highly spoken of by those who have read it. Mr. Carleton considers it his best work.

The chorus girls who were engaged in the recent production of "Nora" in New York took great interest in the lions, and if one of them succeeded in touching one of the animals, she imagined herself a second Una. One night one of the girls rushed up to Wilton Lackaye and exclaimed: "Oh, Mr. Lackaye, I touched the lion." "That's nothing," replied that gentleman, "go and touch Locke, then I will wonder."

Emma Abbott stated on her recent visit here that she had contracted with Edmond Audran, the composer, to write an opera for her, the story of which was to be founded on a novel written by a celebrated French author, the name of which she would not con-municate. She also said that it was her intention to produce this opera in London together with Anne Boalyn.

Adolph Belot, the French dramatist, is dead.

Walter M. Leman, the veteran actor, passed away with the old year on Wednesday last at San Francisco, in his 81st year. Mr. Leman had been identified with theatricals from early boyhood. His novitiate was passed in the Tremont Theater, Boston. In 1854 he made his first appearance in California, the principal support of Barney Williams, and until 1880 was rarely absent from the local stage. He was a great favorite in the early days, and was regarded as an ideal leading actor. When he came to him he fell into old-men roles and was highly successful in them. After an absence of several years he reappeared before the public on the first of December last, which it so happened was his birthday, and had been selected as a suitable occasion for a testimonial to him. During the performance he took a cold, and on Christmas day it was announced to him that his end was at hand. He received the news calmly and at once set about making preparations. It is worthy of remark that the day of his death was the anniversary of his wedding. Mr. Leman's career furnishes an example which the younger generation of actors will do well to emulate.—(San Francisco Music and Drama.)

Mr. Leman left behind him a pleasantly-written volume of reminiscences entitled "Memories of an Old Actor," which he published in 1886.

The news of Emma Abbott's sudden and dangerous illness will be a shock to her many warm friends and will no doubt be felt in this community, where she appeared so recently to crowded houses. Miss Abbott has always been a tremendously hard worker. During her engagement here in Christmas week she sang the leading roles in six grand operas in the space of four days. In the course of a conversation with the writer, who expressed an opinion that the fair singer was working too hard, she laughingly informed him that she appeared to be proof against all physical ailments; that she had never had more of the aches and pains that ordinary mortals have to submit to, and that she always felt fresh enough at the end of an opera to go on and sing it through again.

The San Franciscans are to be treated this week to another dose of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" with two-year-old babies to alternate in the leading part. Of course they are "the greatest child actresses in the world." The craze for the lollipop drama was violent while it lasted, but it seems now to have, in a great measure, died out.

The stage wardrobes and properties belonging to the "Prince and Pauper" company, valued at $4000, were recently sold and brought a total of $2500.

Emily Melville has settled down at Cape Town, South Africa, with her husband, Giuseppe Verdi, who has gone into the hotel business. The husband was formerly an opera singer, and his name was plain William Green, hence "Verdi." Emily retains only a fragment of her singing voice, but her appearance is much the same as of old, save that she is a trifle stouter, and she preserves all her former charm of manner.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
